You may not be finished yet.

Your spouse's or common law partner's return may not have been filed yet. Each return must be transmitted separately. If you have a spouse or other family member who must file a return, go to the Ready to file Web page.

If you are a Québec resident you need to file a Québec tax return. If you have not done so yet, you can file from the Revenu Québec Web site.

You can track your return or find out when your refund is issued through our secure online service, My Account. Your return status will show received within a day of filing. To use My Account you need to register for an epass.

NOTE: As per the terms and conditions on the ready to file page, you cannot change your address using NETFILE. If your address has changed and you did not update the information with the CRA prior to filing, your Notice of Assessment and refund will be mailed to the old address we have on file. You should contact the CRA to update your records.

The same selection criteria for verifying income tax returns are used for both paper and electronic versions.

You need to keep all your tax information slips and documents for six years after you file your tax return.

If you need forms or more information, visit our Canada Revenue Agency Web site.
